HiringSpring Names Wilson Managing Director

ATLANTA, Ga., July 17, 2006 — HiringSpring, a leading, national candidate sourcing firm, today announced a key appointment to its management team. Gary Wilson will assume the position of Managing Director. In this role, Wilson will coordinate all operating functions of the company. His primary responsibility will be to focus on growing market share and expanding opportunities.

“I am very pleased to welcome Gary Wilson to our executive management team,” said Lee Culberson, COO of VC South, which is the financial backer and primary owner of HiringSpring. “Gary’s wealth of experience will be an asset to our company,” Culberson added.

For more than 20 years, Wilson’s talent has been spent within the governmental affairs and communications fields. The majority of his career, almost twenty years, has been with PPG Industries serving the company in an array of capacities from Director of Federal Government Affairs to Director of Communications-Chemicals. More recently he was employed with National Tire and Battery as their Customer Service Advisor.

HiringSpring is headquartered in Atlanta and serves clients throughout North America. It is a division of Industry Experience, a national placement firm that maintains a list of over 46 million (three times larger than the next largest business database in North America) executive names representing 75% of all white-collar workers.
